CHANG GETS SOME

Japanese Giving Supplies To Dieterich, Report

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Sept. 27.—Amid a mass of bewildering reports regarding munitions reaching General Chang Tso-lin from the north it appears to be established that 22 carloads of munitions from Vladivostok have reached Fengtien but that the last few are held up by the Customs.

The so-called Japanese supplies of munitions at Vladivostok amount to many thousands of tons and there has been much speculation in Peking recently regarding the reasons why Japan sent such quantities to Siberia and why she did not send them home with her troops.

The latest reports, however, indicate that at least a bulk of these supplies consist of munitions sent to Siberia from America for the Koltchak regime and, after the downfall of Admiral Koltchak, allowed to remain neglected on the foreshore at Vladivostok until the hurried departure of the other Allied troops, when the supplies automatically came under the control of the Japanese.

According to one report these supplies are being handed over to General Dieterichs on the ground that they belong to the Russian people but probably an inspection will soon be held and if it should be established that they originated from America their disposal must be arranged jointly by the Allies.

The situation is considered very interesting, as, if the supplies really belong to the Allies and a portion reach China, the Allies would be technically responsible for an infringement of the Arms Embargo Agreement.

Germans Active In India, Says Mitra

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 27.—Mr. S. M. Mitra, the well-known Indian publicist, writing in the Daily Telegraph, draws attention to the rapidity of German commercial expansion in India which during the past ten months has practically driven out Japanese goods from the country. He says that Hindu, Mohammedan and Parsee shops are full of German merchandise and that Germany is organising the despatch of goods from India by the Younghusband route to Thibet. Mr. Mitra believes that a large volume of the trade of India will pass into German hands if British manufacturers do not start an organisation to combat German expansion.

S'HAI BANKS' ASSOCIATION REPUDIATES PEKING LOAN

Will Not Accept Proposed Bonds As Security

WIRE TO AGLEN

Want Outstanding Obligations Discharged First

The $10,000,000 short time loan, reported by Reuter's yesterday as having been sanctioned by Peking mandate, has raised a strong note of protest among Chinese bankers here and the Shanghai Bankers' Association has wired to Sir Francis Aglen that they are opposed to the loan and will neither underwrite it nor accept the new bonds as security so long as the Government's outstanding debts remain unsettled.

The text of the telegram to Sir Francis Aglen, custodian of the Russian Boxer Indemnity which is proposed as security for the loan, is as follows:

"We are alarmed to learn that you have agreed with the Government to issue a new loan of ten million dollars. A resolution was unanimously passed at a general meeting held by this Association that bankers and financiers in Shanghai will not underwrite or accept as security these new bonds so long as the Government outstanding debts remain unsettled and unredeemed. We hope with greatest confidence that a man of your credit and ability will not fail to agree with us in arresting this issue for the general financial health. Hoping to hear satisfactorily from you, The Shanghai Bankers' Association."

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Sept. 27.—It is semi-officially stated that the Government has virtually completed its financial arrangements to meet the obligations of the Mid-Autumn Festival and also until the end of the year.

The Eleventh Year Loan will be divided into four equal monthly lots. The Banks will take six percent discount, so that each monthly instalment will yield to the Government $2,000,000.

It is proposed to issue debentures to the value of $2,000,000 for a period of 10 months at 10 percent interest, secured on the Salt Surplus, which will be used for Mid-Autumn expenditure. It will thus be possible to make substantial payments of arrears of salary on settlement day while the monthly instalments of the Loan will enable payments of 70 percent of military and police expenses and also salaries of Members of Parliament, leaving a balance of $50,000 to be derived from other sources.

After the festival the Government intends to make definite proposals to the Tuchuns regarding disbandment of troops.

No Interruption Of Peking's Mails

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Sept. 27.—With regard to the recent reports in the Chinese and foreign press to the effect that the Peking postal sorters had made certain demands and were prepared to walk out on strike if these demands were not met Reuter's correspondent learns authoritatively that a few disgruntled sorters, imbued with Bolshevik aspirations, anonymously sent in demands accompanied by a statement that a meeting was being held the following day. The meeting was not held and no interruption of work occurred. Thus the movement completely failed.

SOVIET BRANDED WORLD ENEMY IN LEAGUE SPEECH

Lord Robert Cecil Says Nations Must "Disarm Or Perish"

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, Sept. 26.—Lord Robert Cecil made a great impression in the Assembly of the League of Nations today in the debate on the arms traffic when he alluded to the purchases of arms by the Soviet, which he described as the enemy of all governments. He urged the conclusion of an effective convention to deal with traffic in arms and also the formation of a small committee for the purpose of showing the world what it was exposed to by poison gases. He solemnly declared that nations must disarm or perish.

Mr. Fisher, while agreeing with Lord Cecil's speech, advocated a further study of the whole matter. He pointed out that the Third Commission's report, strongly favoring the treatment of war debts and reparations as a whole, reflected the British Government's policy.

With Britain agreeing jointly with France and Czecho-Slovakia, and most probably Italy, to afford financial aid to Austria the Council of the League will be able immediately to deal with the question through the committee headed by Earl Balfour. The above-mentioned nations will guarantee 80 percent of the advances and banks of other countries will guarantee the balance to make up the amount.

Geneva, Sept. 26.—The Council of the League of Nations today decided to give effect to the resolution of the Assembly upon the traffic in opium and dangerous drugs. The consultative committee on this will be invited to consider as soon as possible whether the governments belonging to the International Opium Convention should be requested to agree not to give licences for importation from countries which have not yet ratified the Convention or adopted the system of controlling exports and imports approved by the Second Assembly.

The General Secretary was requested urgently to invite the United States to appoint a delegate to the consultative commission.

KEMALISTS ORDERED BY BRITISH TO QUIT ZONE IN FORTY EIGHT HOURS

Soviet Getting Ready For Armed Intervention In Behalf Of Turks And Are Trying To "Stiffen Them Against Peace"

GOVERNMENT AT ATHENS IS OUT

Revolutionary Movements Reported From Salonica And Other Places; Proclamation Demands Abdication Of The King

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 27.—It is understood that the British have requested the Kemalists to evacuate the neutral zone within 48 hours from the time of the presentation of the message.

Interviewed by an American correspondent at Symrna Mustapha Kemal declared that Turkey is prepared to guarantee to keep the Straits open and is willing to demolish the existing fortifications but he insisted that the safety of Constantinople must be assured by means of the Sea of Marmora.

In the course of a denunciation of the British Government, and particularly of Mr. Lloyd George, he made the astonishing charge that it was interested in the closing of the Straits. He laid stress on his objection to the British acquisition of territory in connection with Irak oil. He favored a mutual exchange of Christian minorities in Anatolia for Moslem minorities elsewhere as a solution of that difficult problem.

Helsingfors, Sept. 27.—It is reported from Moscow that the Soviet has decided to send armed support to Mustapha Kemal in the event of a collision with the British and that it is endeavoring to stiffen him against peace. Steps for military intervention are being prepared, including extensive plans to create a base in the Caucasus.

London, Sept. 27.—Reuter messages from Athens indicate serious revolutionary movements at Salonica, Mitylene and Larissa and that a crisis is developing.

Athens, Sept. 27.—An aeroplane from Mitylene, where the troops from Anatolia are reported to have landed, today dropped copies of a proclamation here demanding in the name of the Army and Navy the abdication of the King in favor of the Crown Prince, the immediate dissolution of Parliament and the new Cabinet and the immediate reinforcement of the Thracian front.

Proclamations have also been dropped at Larissa and Salonica, where the attitude of the Army is suspicious.

Athens, Sept. 2.—The Government has resigned.

Very important changes are impending and there are indications that a peaceful solution of the crisis will be found. It is doubtful whether General Metaxas will accept the Premiership.

Meanwhile the town is strongly patrolled and martial law is being proclaimed.

The demonstration today, which will have many interesting features will be participated in by Misses Helen McCracken, Margaret Kees, Barbara Atkinson, Olive Crane, Irene Campbell, Betty Davis, Ruth Raven, Peggy Crane and Margaret McCracken.

Kemalists Explain Presence In Zone

(Reuter's Service)

Constantinople, Sept. 26.—The Turkish movements in the neutral zone are explained by the Angora representative here who states that the Allies' message concerning the peace proposals reached Kemal Pasha yesterday after inexplicable wireless delay.

It is understood that Sir Charles Harington has given a time limit sufficiently long to enable the Turkish commanders to communicate with Kemal Pasha.

On the other hand, he is in earnest conference with Hamid Bey, who is in direct communication with Kemal Pasha.

Washington, Sept. 26.—Mr. Hughes, the United States Secretary of State, has expressed unequivocal approval of the Allied proposals for the freedom of the Straits and the protection of racial and religious minorities in the Near East.

Mr. Hughes declined to comment on territorial questions. He trusted that suitable arrangements would be made to preserve the freedom of the Straits pending negotiations.

Paris, Sept. 26.—General opinion in America is satisfied with the Allied note to Kemal Pasha. The papers state that the Kemalists must be very exacting if they are not content with the concessions made in the note.

Paris, Sept. 26.—The United States has sent the two warships, Utah and Scorpion, with five destroyers to Turkish waters.

Tokio Doubts Russian Sincerity At Conference

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Sept. 27.—A formal statement by the Foreign Minister today reaffirms that of the Vice-Minister Mr. Hanihara yesterday with regard to Japan's adherence to her policies already laid down and states that Japan at Changchun was confronted with Russian tactics similar to those employed at Genoa and the Hague. In conclusion the Minister said: "Japan cannot but doubt the sincerity of the Soviet's intentions at Changchun."

(Asiatic Agency)

Tokio, Sept. 26—The breakdown of the Changchun Conference does not change the policies and plans already laid down for the evacuation of the Maritime Province according to a statement made by the Vice-minister of Foreign Affairs to the press today. Arms and ammunition are necessarily being handed over to those Russians most competent to protect Japanese residents and the Government is doing the utmost possible to prevent any conflict resulting from the transfer.

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Sept. 26.—As regards the rupture of the Changchun Conference, newspapers here regard it as a natural course of events and take the view that the Japanese Government is to be congratulated for showing no hesitation in closing the conference by dispatching such decisive instructions to the Japanese delegates, feeling disgusted with the insincere attitude on the part of the Russian delegates. In particular, the papers attach much importance to the fact that the Russian delegates ignored the understanding reached in the course of the preparatory negotiations of the conference between the Governments of Tokio, Moscow and Chita, emphasising that for the rupture of the Changchun Conference only the Russian delegates should be held responsible.

In this connection, the Yomiuri, one of the most liberal papers in Japan, emphatically points out that this attitude on the part of the Russian delegates decidedly testifies to their insincerity, for which they should by no means be excused and which is a proof of their breach of faith.

BASIC AGREEMENT

More than this, with regard to the basic agreement, which is the principal topic of the Changchun Conference, a full understanding had already been effected between the two parties concerned. Despite this fact, the Russian delegates in the course of the negotiations unexpectedly began to assume such an incomprehensible attitude. As for the fair and just attitude of the Japanese delegates as well as for Japan's position, it may safely be said that the Powers are well aware of it.

The Jiji says: That M. Joffe should have declared that he heard for the first time of the relation existing between the Nikolaievsk affair and the stationing of Japanese troops in North Sachalien, coupled with the fact that at the beginning of the Changchun Conference M. Joffe also stated that it was the first time that he heard of the assertion of the Japanese delegates that the Changchun Conference should be conducted on the basis of the Dairen agreement which was entered into between the delegates of the Tokio and Chita Governments clearly shows the utterly feigning ignorance on the part of the Russian delegates. This reveals the hereditary shrewd tactics of Russia as well as the insincerity of the Russian delegates. Russia misunderstood the sentiments of the Japanese people, making no allowance for the indignation of Japan towards the barbarous atrocity perpetrated by the Russian partisans, resulting in the indiscriminate massacre of the Japanese civilians and soldiers.

Tokio, Sept. 26.—In an interview today with press representatives, Mr. Hanihara, Vice Minister of Foreign Affairs, referring to the rupture of the Changchun Conference, made the following statement:

MUST PROTECT NATIONALS

"Owing to the rupture of the Russo-Japanese negotiations at Changchun, the next thing for the Imperial Government is to attend to the protection of the lives and property of Japanese residents in Siberia. While hoping that those Japanese who have hitherto built up their businesses there will still continue their residence for the expansion of the activities of the Japanese people, we must expect that they may be compelled to withdraw from Siberia.

"I have an intention, however, to refer the matter of their withdrawal to their free will. With regard to relief-measures to be rendered to the Japanese residents, there is an argument that the capital with a low interest should be utilised, but I consider it unadvisable to do so. The Japanese Government has a mind to keep some men-of-war in Vladivostok for the time being to protect the remnants of Japanese colonies. It is our desire, however, to devise some better measures to do all that is desired.

"With regard to the disposal of the seized arms, it is to be expected that the Japanese Government will, according to its already fixed policy, form some effective measures with the object of handing them over to a proper political body of Russia. I am not yet in a position to declare to which political body the seized arms will in the end be returned. This matter will be decided upon according to the rise and fall of the influence of the Reds and the Whites. It is to be regretted that there are various rumors afloat relating to the seized arms question. In this connection inquiries are now being made and the authorities concerned trust that these rumors will prove without foundation. Apropos of the fishery question, so long as no special events occur in the future, the Japanese Government is determined to continue the present

HOW TO "GROW" A NEW COMPLEXION

These are the days of "bustling." In a week we see and do more than our grandmothers did in a year. We are gradually turning nature to be our servant: we use her great forces against herself. We have conquered sea and sky, now our doctors are fighting not only disease, rejuvenating human beings by the injection of animal glands but as yet, only the few can avail themselves of the treatment.

There is, however, one secret of perpetual youth that is in the reach of everyone. Scientists now realise that the only way of keeping the skin young and fresh is to examine Nature's methods and to find some way of imitating her.

In order to explain the new method of keeping the complexion perpetually youthful, one must understand something of the nature of the skin. A baby's skin is always clear and smooth because the outer layer is always invisibly peeling off, and new layers are forming just as fast underneath, so that the exposed skin is always fresh, unwrinkled and "new."

For the first few years of our lives, this peeling is a purely natural process, but as we grow older, we gradually lose the power of throwing off our old soiled outer skins, so that our complexions become lined and yellow, and the new skin has no chance to show itself.

A few years ago, a scientific chemist realised that a little-known substance called mercolised wax, was exactly what was needed to "keep nature up to the mark." It appears that this substance, which is now universally obtainable gently and painlessly assists nature in throwing off the soiled outer cuticle. The skin is thus perpetually renewed, and its clear youthful complexion can be preserved to any age. (Advt.)

HEAVY DAMAGE DONE BY FLOODS AROUND HUCHOW

Launch Communications Restored After Three Weeks

(China Press Correspondence)

Huchow, Sept. 25.—For three weeks because of flood conditions Huchow has been without launch connections with the outside world. The tremendous rains of August 31 and September 1 filled all canals to almost overflowing. Frantic farmers, fearing the toppling over of the flimsy dykes along their fields, issued peremptory notice that the launches could not run and that no boats could carry sail. As a result Huchow was made dependent as of old upon slow boats for communication with neighboring cities. To say nothing of the very great inconvenience thus caused there has been no small loss to the trade of the city.

During the past three days the launch lines have been gradually putting into effect their regular running schedules. Launches for Shanghai, Hangchow and Soochow are already leaving daily, and only the Kashing line has not started. The reason for delay on this line is probably because the water is still so high that some bridge along the route cannot be passed.

The present flood has done great damage all over the region bordering the Southern shore of the Great Lake. Immediately around the city of Huchow the farmers report an average loss of 20 per cent of the rice crop. Many fields show a loss of at least half the crop, but the average is kept up by the fact that much of the rice was not in an advanced stage and will consequently produce about a full crop. Near Mechi, some thirty miles West of Huchow, it is reported that the rice crop is practically a total losss over an area of some 50 square miles. The dykes of the fields were washed entirely away, the fields were flooded, the rice destroyed, and many of the people were compelled to remove from their homes and camp out on high places.

This flood is the third during the last thirteen months to afflict this part of Northern Chekiang. For all of September and half of October last year similar conditions prevailed, and during the last of June and the first of July of this year for two weeks the flood covered the country, causing much loss to the farmers.

General Wu Pei-fu

SKETCHED BY JUEL MADSEN

DURING the course of his tour of China Mr. Juel Madsen, young Danish Artist of note, made a trip to the headquarters of General Wu Pei-fu, and sketched the redoutable Northern military leader in a characteristic pose.

Mr. Madsen, who is a graduate of the Academy of Copenhagen and is an artist and correspondent to the London Graphic, is at precent in Shanghai, where it is possible he may exhibit a collection of his works. He expects shortly to proceed to Japan and thence to America.

Mr. Madsen comes to Shanghai from Peking, where his pictures including many made in China created much admiration. Among the studies shown by him were portrait sketches of the British, American, Danish and Japanese Ministers, Generals Wu, Wang and Feng and an oil painting of Dr. W. W. Yen. A group of war pictures executed during 1920, when the artist was with Wrangel's army in the Crimea and Ukraine also aroused much interest.

Britain's Scrapping Program Unchangea

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 26.—With reference to the Washington cable stating that Mr. Denby, the United States Secretary of the Navy, announces that no battleships will be scrapped until France and Italy have ratified the Naval Treaty as it is felt that the Near East situation might lead some of the signatories to change their plans regarding scrapping, the Admiralty denies that Britain is using such vessels in connection with the Near East.

On the contrary all British vessels, which are to be scrapped under the Washington decisions, have long since been dismantled in readiness for the shipbreaker and some are already being broken up.

American Sailor Held For Assault On Sikh Policeman

Brown Got The Description From His Pal In Jail Then Found His Man

"A big dark-skinned policeman with a lot of black whiskers and a red rag round his head—he's the one that got you, you say?"

"Yeh, he's the one. He got me put in here." And with the explanation Louis Roff, American seaman from the s.s. Dover gripped the iron bars of the door of the American jail as he sorrowfully regarded his shipmate, George Brown, who had heard of young Roff's mischance and so had come to the jail to see him.

It should be added that the youthful sailor, as set forth in testimony that was given yesterday morning before U. S. Commissioner N. E. Lurton, was found at 2027 Wuchang Road in possession of two ancient Smith and Wesson revolvers and a quantity of ammunition for them. By reason of this he was bound over for trial in the United States Court for China by Commissioner Lurton under bail of $50.

It is not recorded where Brown went—that is not all of the places—after his visit to the luckless Roff. Perhaps he carried in memory the lecture he had administered in the course of his call to the younger man on the general foolishness of coming ashore and getting arrested.

Whatever his thoughts may have been, however, a report of Brown's movements that came to be given later in the evening indicated that he had begun to steer a decidedly uncertain course. Somewhere in the purlieus of lower Broadway near a traffic point it is known that he came to an abrupt stop.

"With a lot'a black whiskers," he declared to a Chinese shopkeeper whose astonished eyes followed those of the seaman to an august figure in the middle of the roadway. The seaman lurched forward swiftly.

"That's him," was his only further remark and when peace and quite again was restored and principals and witnesses were brought together under the questioning eyes of a police desk sergeant, the Sikh could say only that he had been dutifully directing traffic. He was entirely unable to advance any reasons whatever for what had occurred.

Young Roff was wakened from uneasy slumber as the door of the jail clanged and he sat up blinking.

"Why—that you Brown?" he questioned.

Commissioner Lurton is to hear the second case from the Dover this morning.

HUPEH ASSEMBLY TO SEEK REMEDY FOR STRIKE EVILS

Industrial Commission To Issue "Rules For Running Factories"

(Independent News Service)

Hankow, Sept. 22.—The Industrial Commissioner has announced that in view of the continual labor troubles and unrest in Hupeh's industrial centers, certain general regulations will soon be issued governing the running of factories and employment of labor. The regulations are now before the Provincial Assembly for approval, and once they are sanctioned they will constitute the labor code for Hupeh factories.

Prior to the issue of these regulations, the Industrial Commissioner had sent a circular letter to managers and directors of the various factories and works in Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang explaining the inter-dependent relations between employers and workmen, and admonishing them to eliminate all such friction as may lead to bothersome strikes.

Strikes are becoming contagious in this center. Nearly every day come threats of strike in this or that factory, and now the employees of the Hankow Water Works have gone on strike for recognition of their club by the company. They also demand the retention of the service of a dismissed laborer named Wang Hui-sing, president of the club.

Today men from Wuchang have taken the place of the workers in the Water Works who left in a body. The Works have decided not to give in this time.

Those in the electric light department have kept on their work and the reason the strike has not matured to endanger the general public is because of the fact that the men are a mixture from Ningpo, Kiangsi and Hupeh They cannot hold harmony among themselves.

Tuchun Hsiao Yao-nan has intimated that he would use iron hand methods in dealing with them, if they do not listen to reason and justice. Yesterday evening heavy guards were stationed both at the water and electric works and the street police were reinforced to be ready for any emergency. Extra workmen were prepared to replace the disgruntled light works men in the event of their going out.

Meanwhile eight deputies of the laborers parleyed with the manager for a long time without any result, and they were promised a final reply today. Their other demands were accepted, but the demand that their club should be recognised, and that their sanction should be first obtained for dismissal of any worker were refused. The manager contended that under the Republic clubs and societies may be formed by anyone and at any time, so far they are not against the police laws, and that therefore recognition of the club in question was utterly unnecessary.

As regards the dismissal of men, he said, it was his absolute right, and workers could have no voice in that connection.

Today they assembled at the manager's office again for a reply, and found to their great dissatisfaction that he persisted in his contention. They left and proclaimed the strike. The Water Works now have new workers, but the electric light workers were induced to continue their work as usual.

Pinghsing Miners Get 50 Percent Increase

(Independent News Agency)

Hankow, Sept. 23.—A sweeping victory for the workers is the result of the labor strike in the Pinghsing colliery, and along the Chuchow-Anyuan railway. There has been no bloodshed between the workers and the soldiers sent especially to maintain order, as the former have behaved themselves fairly well.

Monday afternoon over 10,000 men gathered at Tasaping, where the railway and mine authorities accompanied by mediators, including the local chamber of commerce, were awaiting them. Naturally all the demands had been discussed and agreed to in the main by their employers, and they were all there to witness the signing of the compact.

It was signed by six mediators one man representing the Pinghsiang colliery, and another representing the Chuchow-Anyuan railway, and one delegate of the workmen. They cheered their club [illegible] Labor, and shouted most triumphantly.

It was near sunset when they all went back to their work with great satisfaction and merriment, secure in the thought that now they will draw 30 cents instead of a beggary 20 as heretofore.

Obituary

SENATOR WATSON

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Sept. 26.—The death is announced at the age of 66 of Mr. Thomas E. Watson, United States Senator for Georgia.

Senator Tom Watson of Gerogia has had one of the most picturesque careers and is perhaps as well known to the public at large in the United States as any other United States Senator. He was born in Columbia County, Ga., on September 5, 1856, and after studying at Mercer College taught school and read law. He was admitted to the bar in 1875 and almost immediately entered politics, serving in the Georgia House of Representatives.

He entered national politics as a Democratic elector from Georgia in 1888, but in 1891 joined the Populist split and was elected to Congress from Georgia as a Populist. He ran again in 1894 but was not seated despite the fact that he claimed to have polled the largest vote in an exciting campaign. While in Congress he secured the first appropriation for free delivery of mails in rural districts that Congress ever passed.

At the Populist convention in St. Louis in 1896, which endorsed William Jennings Bryan for President, he was nominated for the Vice-presidency, in opposition to Arthur Sewall, the regular Democratic candidate, and received 27 electoral votes. McKinley was elected President and Garret A. Hobart of New Jersey, Vice-president.

After the elections Watson for some time conducted a Populist paper at Atlanta and in 1904 was nominated for the Presidency by the People's Party and made an active campaign to revive the party. He polled only 117,000 votes, however, being fifth in a list of six candidates. Following the election he began conducting Tom Watson's Magazine in New York, until his death. After his election to the United States Senate in a bitter campaign in Georgia he became notorious as one of the greatest trouble-makers in the United States Senate.

Senator Watson was the author of a number of books, being especially notorious for his attacks on the Roman Catholic Church. He was tried twice for publishing three chapters of 'The Roman Catholic Hierarchy' but was acquitted. During the early days of the war he opposed conscripting soldiers for service abroad and the mails were closed to Watson's Magazine. He was the publisher of The Sentinel at the time of his death. His home was in Thomson, Georgia.

Maloney, Glutton For Punishment, Eager To Organise Football Team

By Westa

When it comes to a yearning for punishment our old friend Mal Maloney wins both the cast iron bath towel and the steel and concrete autumn benny. The wreath of bamboo matting is draped around his noble bean, with none to envy or dispute his title.

When Mal was a little chap his mother had to put spikes in his teething rings and all the rompers he ever wore were made out of buckskin. One day he fell out of a two story window and when they picked him he was squawking because the side walk on which he lit was made out of pine boards instead of cement One time he was sick and his father brought him home some gum drops but Mal wouldn't eat them until some holes had been drilled in them and the holes plugged with dynamite.

COMES TO SHANGHAI

Well, that's the way he grew up and that's the sort of a life he led until in due course of time he arrived in Shanghai and began to play baseball. Baseball, as everyone knows, is a violent sort of a pastime, and as Mal's constitution had begun to weaken under the terrific strains to which it had been subjected it was only natural that he should become more or less banged up in the course of his efforts on the diamond.

Last year one of the speed merchants on a sailor team cracked him in the head and almost knocked one of his eyes out, but this year, damaged lamp and all, he went at it again. One day this summer, in sliding into second, his foot caught on the bag and stopped but Mal kept right on going, which necessitated the use of a cane for some weeks, this being gall and wormwood to Mal's athletic soul. Well, tempus fugited, and one day a Charley Horse parked itself in his leg and that put him on intimate terms with Old Man Hobble for several weeks, the Hobble being on Mal and not on the Horse.

MERE TRIFLES

But these were all mere physical inconveniences—inconveniences to Mal, although they would have been tragedies to a less sturdy athlete—and he didn't even hesitate in his mad yearning for more punishment, as witness the following, to wit:

Mal is now organising a football team!

Can you beat it?

Mal called up last night to say that a great idea had popped right into the middle of his bean when he read in the paper that the American fleet was on its way to Shanghai, this idea being to organise a football team to play the sailor elevens before they get out of town a month or so hence.

Mal probably figures that it will do his lame ankle a lot of good to have it massaged by a flock of huskies off the battleships, and that the precise treatment his leg needs to cure it of that Charley Horse is to be stopped violently by some two hundred pound coal passer while in mid flight around an end and slammed even more violently into the hard clay terrain that abounds in that part of the race track where football games are played.

HE CRAVES ACTION

Wouldn't that bird have made a swell doctor? His system of curing patients, had he gone into the saw bones business, probably would have consisted of taking them up to the roof of the hospital and pushing them off into the brick paved alley.

Well, anyway, there are Mal's cards, all face up on the table. He says this will probably be the best opportunity Shanghai ever had to see some real, bang up football and he is eager to hear from any football hounds who crave action. He suggests that anyone interested communicate with him, his regular moniker being Mr. J. W. Maloney, and his address No. 18 Kiukiang Road, third floor. Or, he says, if anybody or any group will go ahead and organise a team they can count on him to be the first one out to practice and the last one to quit.

Just so he gets action, that being all he cares about.

The suggestion has been put forth by "Mal" Maloney that now would be a good time to begin to start to get ready for the football season, as the sailors, soon to arrive in port, are known to have some good football teams. Mal thinks that since they will be here a month or so there would be time to get organised for some games before they leave. If there are any players in town Mal would like to get in touch with them, his address being: J. W. Maloney, 18 Kiukiang Road, third floor.

SAYS "BUGS"

Baer:

HOSS CIRCUS IS A WONDERFUL SIGHT

But Don't Spend Anything There Except The Afternoon

Hoss racing is sport of kings. Public should stick to its mules.

Mule lives thirty years. You can rent him out for five dollars every day, rain or strikes.

In that time, he will earn you forty-five thousand plasters and only chew up about five thousand in hard boiled oats. When he croaks, you won't have to spend any money hiring lawyers to crack his will.

His initial cost is about fifty waters. Man who buys race hoss pays anywhere from five yards to one hundred grand for him. And generally he is lonely if he aint in last place.

Mule is always glad to see you and is so gentle he will try to lay his heels in your lap. You don't have to pay high powered jockey about twenty thousand a season to steer him. Only jockey mule needs is moskeeter or big mule fly to sting him on his V back.

Poor man oughtn't to look twice at any hoss that hasn't got a cart nailed to him by plenty of harness.

Racing is rich man's picnic, but public helps to support it at gate. There isn't any doubt that it is popular. But so was Honduras lottery.

There is no more pleasant way of investing an afternoon than at a race track like Belmont or Saratoga. But if you want to make a profession of it, you had better give up everything else.

Five and ten dollar gamblers soon get chewed up by the boys with the big bully bankrolls. The big boys bet fifty grand just like it was a drink of water and they weren't thirsty.

But no Woolworth bird can step out of the knick-knack class and crash his way into the front row. Everybody dreams of running a dollar up into a war loan but you can't cash moonbeams at a daylight bank.

Go out to the track. Kick in your three bills at the gate. But let those hosses alone. You'll have a great afternoon.

But those hosses are dangerous. Why, they even get some serum out of them that is stronger than diptheria.

"Began to think she would never get well."

Our Portrait is of Miss FLORRIE ORGAN, of 100, Clark Street, Ladywood, Birmingham, England, whose father writes:

"My daughter Florrie was suffering with a very bad head covered with Sores and Eruptions, and in fact her mother was afraid to comb her hair. She had been under several doctors, but all to no purpose, so I began to think she would never get well again and lose all her hair. As your 'Clarke's Blood Mixture' cured me of Glandular Swellings in the Neck some years ago, and so averted my having to undergoan operation, I decided to give 'Clarke's Blood Mixture' a fair trial in the case of my daughter, and I am pleased to say it effected a wonderful cure in just over a fortnight."

SUFFERERS from Bad Legs, Abscesses, Ulcers, Glandular Swellings, Piles, Eczema, Boils, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Eruptions, Rheumatism, Gout, should realise that lotions and ointments can but give temporary relief; to be sure of complete and lasting benefit the blood must be thoroughly cleansed of the impure waste matter the root cause of such troubles. Clarke's Blood Mixture quickly attacks, overcomes and expels the impurities; that is why so many remarkable recoveries stand to its credit. Pleasant to take, and free from injurious ingredients.

Of all Dealers. Ask for and see you get

Plan to Save Systematically

The experience of a hundred generations proves that every individual must observe three conditions in order to become independent as a result of his own efforts.

1—One must save a part of one's earnings regularly and methodically.

2—The savings must be invested in a safe plan.

3—Big possibilities must be demanded—for this will perhaps soon amount to 100 times more than the money saved.

The I.S.S. is where you will get these benefits. SUBSCRIBE AT ONCE TO AN I. S. S. Premium Bond.

Pope Pius Employs New Standards For Promotion

(Chung Mei Service)

Rome, Sept. 2.—Back of Pope Pius' decision to postpone, if possible, till December his first consistory for the creation of new cardinals lies the intention of working a very radical change in the filling of all the higher political and religious offices of the Church.

Hereafter, according to intimate associates and councilors of Pope Pius, all elevations to the College of Cardinals and all promotions and appointments in the Vatican Diplomatic service, are to be based purely on two things, cultural fitness and merit. Efficiency and not tradition or custom is to be the keynote of Pope Pius' administration of the Holy See.

The decision of His Holiness to work this new reform in Vatican appointments and to apply it both to the Sacred College and the Diplomatic service is pointed out by Vatican circles as indicative of Pope Pius' intention to devote himself equally to the religious as well as the political side of the church.

This, to a certain extent, violates the custom which had become established largely by accession of alternative political and religious popes. Pope Leo XIII was classed essentially as a political pope who devoted his energies largely to strengthening the political standing of the Holy See.

Pope Pius X followed as a religious pontiff dropping almost all attention to the political side of the church and seeking only to strengthen its religious side against the onslaughts of modernism, science and unbelief generally.

Pope Benedict, both by his diplomatic training and the exigencies of the war, became a political pope and according to popular tradition Pope Pius XI would inevitably lead the church back purely into its religious activities.

This supposition, however, was arrived at without consulting Pope Pius himself and the latter's announced intention of injecting efficiency into both the Sacred College and the diplomatic service indicates his intention of bridging both the political and the religious roles of the supreme pontif.

Ordinarily Pope Pius should have held a consistory as soon as possible after his coronation. Not only is the Sacred College reduced now by deaths from its full number of 70 to below 60 and therefore badly in need of rejuvenation, but custom over centuries has established that each new pope must elevate as quickly as possible to the Sacred College certain prelates whose position under the preceding pope entitled them to the sacred purple.

However it is precisely this elevation by custom and tradition, and not by merit, to the Sacred College, that Pope Pius intends to break up. He has therefore decided to postpone as long as possible his first consistory in order that he himself may pass personally upon the merits and qualifications of those whom he will eventually create princes of the church, and also to render less conspicuous his failure to make certain traditional elevations which ordinarily would have taken place immediately after his own elevation to the Holy See.

Centuries of custom have established that certain high positions in the church must lead eventually and inevitably to the Sacred College. These include generally the maggiore dome and the master of ceremonies of the late pontiff, the secretary of the conclave which elected the new pope, the assessor of the Holy Office, the secretary of the propaganda and a number of others.

Hereafter, at least under the pontificate of Pope Pius, these personages will only be promoted to the Sacred College on condition that they merit it, and on condition that there is no one else who merits it more.

Wang's 'Telegram To Gen. Chen' Denied

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Sept. 26.—The Cabinet requests the police to instruct the newspapers concerned to deny the report that Dr. Wang Chung-hui recently telegraphed to General Chen Chiung-ming saying that, judging from the present situation, there was no possibility of carrying out disbandment of troops until reunification was achieved, no prospect of financial readjustment until disbandment was effected and no possibility of preserving the stability of the nation until financial readjustment was accomplished.

French Engineers Still In Captivity

(Independent News Service)

Hankow, Sept. 23.—The three French engineers and surveyers of the Lunghai Railway who were recently kidnapped by Honan bandits while surveying near the western end of the railway have not yet been released by their captors, despite the various efforts made by the authorities.

Not only are their whereabouts unknown, but all details of their captivity are most uncertain. Now it is rumored that they have already been killed by the bandits, according to a French engineer on the same railway who is passing through Hankow today. He basis his belief on the fact that no demand for ransom has been made.

Tsai Ordered To Aid New Governor

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Sept. 26.—In connection with the recent telegram to the Government from General Tsai Cheng-hsun the Government has replied saying:

"Mr. Hsieh Yuan-han was appointed Civil Governor of Kiangsi some time ago and the Government has repeatedly requested him to take up his post. The Government's orders must be obeyed and no change can be permitted.

"In view of your valuable services to the State the Government is confident that you will appreciate this point and continue to uphold its prestige in a true spirit of co-operation. You are further requested to inform the local bodies accordingly."

Mr. Hsieh Yuan-han arrived in Peking yesterday and will call on the President this afternoon.

Woman always suffer because off man's foolish infatuations, they pay the price for his excesses, they are the victims of his jealousy and perfidy. No discrimination is made whether she be the right woman or "THE WRONG WOMAN." She is the victim of circumstances. Such perplexing problems all are part of the plot of the feature production. "THE WRONG WOMAN."
Have you ever been made the victim of circumstances, of jealousy, of idle gossip, of excesses, perhaps your emotions are depicted in this picture. You will want to see it.

THE GREATEST OF ALL
Certain stories—in novel or play form—constitute an important part of our civilization as do the telephone, the telegraph, the incandescent bulb or the automobile; they are an integral part of our life. Only a small number can be counted among this high order: "IN OLD KENTUCKY" "THE OLD HOMESTEAD", "WAY DOWN EAST" etc. Originally written by an English novelist, Mrs. Henry Wood, the novel was soon transplanted to the United States and dramatized as well.
The greatness of "East Lynne" lies not alone in five generations who have known it; the basis of its universal appeal as a book, as a play—and now as a photodrama—lies in its humaneness, its sympathy, its sweetness and its moral lesson. Nothing can long endure which is founded on a false morality; that explains the fleeting popularity of the great mass of our literature, our drama, and our films. It takes an epic tale to endure the taste of time.
"EAST LYNNE"
Is the evergreen, the hardy perennial in the garden of literature and now on the screen.

The De Valera Fund

A CURIOUS legal tangle has been caused by the action of Michael Collins, shortly before his death, in applying for an injunction restraining banks in New York from turning over "Irish republican" money to De Valera. Collins acted, it is explained at Dublin, in his capacity as minister of finance of the Dail Eireann, and not as chairman of the provisional government. Maj. Michael A. Kelly, secretary of the American association for the recognition of the Irish republic, who opposes the granting of the injunction, says that the Dail has authority to remove the two republican trustees of the fund, De Valera and Stephen M. O'Mara, and to appoint in their place supporters of the Irish Free state. "Why does not Collins call the Dail Eireann?" he asked just before the death of Collins. This point, it was stated at Dublin, will necessitate the convocation of the Dail, and if such action as Maj. Kelly suggests should be taken the legal question might be disposed of.

If not, the New York supreme court before which the request for an injunction has been laid, will have some knotty questions to solve. In his request Collins urged that Ireland was now a nation and that to give money for fitting out warlike movements against it might be a breach of international law. This plea might not get far, in view of all the filibusters which have been plotted and financed in the United States and from the point of view of international law the fund offends no more than when it aided De Valera to fight Great Britain. The Kerensky fund also shows that a losing faction does not always lose title to its funds abroad when the groups to which they originally belonged are divided against each other.

The question of ownership, however, may be perplexing, and it is said that at the present time there is nobody in the United States qualified to act officially for the Irish republicans. From the practical point of view, however, it is certain that every American dollar sent for fighting the Irish Free state contributes to the ruin of Ireland. By this time it has been shown that the extremists under De Valera are but a minority, that while they may be able for a long time, if aided from abroad, to keep up a guerrilla warfare, it can never carry Ireland with it. Whatever may be the ultimate disposition of the $2,300,000 raised in America by De Valera when he, Collins and Arthur Griffith stood together, its use now to promote civil war in Ireland would be a misfortune.

U. S. Taking Out 9 Billions In New Insurance In 1922

New life insurance issued in 1922 is expected to total probably $9,000,000,000, according to figures compiled and just made public by The Insurance Press, which explains that its estimates are based on the volume of business done during the first seven months of the present year. There is even a chance that this colossal figure may be surpassed. If it is not, however, insurance experts are confident that this year's total will surpass all records except that of 1920, which was a phenomenal year.

Life insurance, according to The Insurance Press, is growing eight times faster than the population of the United States. The aggregate premiums paid for all types of insurance in 1921 in America were approximately $3,000,000,000. The total life insurance premiums were $1,170,000,000.

"According to the Census Bureau statistics," says The Insurance Press, "the population of the United States increased, in the decade 1910-1920, slightly over 15 percent. During the same period the amount of life insurance in force in legal reserve companies increased over 120 percent. Accordingly, during the decade life insurance grew eight times faster than the population. In number the United States increased by 14,000,000 people in ten years. In amount life increased over $18,000,000,000. For each person added to the population in the decade nearly $1,300 was added to the outstanding life insurance of the nation."

In a list of sixty-three of the highest policy holders of the United States and Canada whose policies were paid in 1921, approximately 12 percent of the deaths are shown to have been due to automobile accidents.

"On a basis of eighteen hours' operation a day, automobiles killed two persons every hour in 1921, or a total of more than 12,500 during the entire year," says The Insurance Press. "The automobile death rate has now become a determinable death factor in the general mortality of the nation, and has already risen to alarming proportions with no signs of abatement. In the year 1920 the death rate was 149.7 per million population, and in 1921 it increased to 155.1.

EASTERN CITIES ARE SAFER

"It is significant that the principal Eastern cities, despite their more congested area, experienced a lower death rate per million than the Western cities. New York, with a death rate of 147.6, Philadelphia with a death rate of 136.2 and Boston with a death rate of 137.3, were materially under the general average. The highest death rate of all important cities was in Los Angeles, where the ratio of 291.0 was almost double the general average of 155.1 for the country as a whole.

"Of the total traffic fatalities, which include street railways, steam railways, and all other vehicles, the automobile contributed almost 70 percent. The fatality rate on street and steam railways showed an appreciable reduction during the year 1921. The remarkable development of the automobile in the commercial and social life of the nation is reflected in the depressing fact that it exacts a toll of one human life every half hour."

It further is pointed out that the risk on human life in America is far greater than it is in Great Britain because of the American habit of doing things in a hurry.

"Golf has finally been dignified with a place among mortality causes," continues The Insurance Press. "For a long time it has been recognised as an accident factor as well as a moral and immoral hazard, but the remarkable development in the popularity of the sport has brought with it the inevitably attendant danger to life as well as bodily injury."

The total $1,170,722,000 life insurance paid out in 1921 in the United States and Canada was distributed as follows: Death claims, matured endowments, annuities, disability claims and additional accidental death benefits, $673,900,000; payments for premium savings (dividends to policy holders) and for lapsed, surrendered and purchased policies, $384,900,000, and commuted value of insurance claims awarded by the Bureau of War Risk Insurance from Dec. 31, 1920, to Dec. 31, 1921, $111,922,000.

Policy holders borrowed liberally on their insurance in 1921, according to The Insurance Press, which shows that they also received dividends representing an aggregate increase of $31,000,000 over the dividends of the preceding year. Last year is described as "abnormally favorable" in respect to mortality, because there was a decrease of approximately $15,000,000 in the amount of life insurance matured by death, in the United States and Canada.

"The American wage earner pays nearly $120 a year for his insurance," says this publication. "The aggregate premium paid in 1921 for the principal forms of insurance—life, fire, casualty, marine, automobile, liability, etc., has been carefully calculated to be in excess of $3,000,000,000.

"An outlay of roughly one and three-quarter billions of dollars by 40,000,000 life insurance policyholders, or a yearly per capita payment of $43, is conclusive proof of the high valuation placed upon life insurance by the American people.

"At their present rate of accumulation the aggregate assets of life insurance companies in the United States will soon exceed the assets of any single banking group of the three principal divisions, viz., savings banks, trust companies and State banks.

"Already the assets of life insurance companies, now approximating $8,000,000,000, exceed the combined resources of the 2,000 savings banks and are rapidly approaching the assets of the 16,000 State banks and the 1,700 trust companies, both of which are computed to be between $8,500,000,000 and $9,000,000,000.

The Richest State In The U. S.

According to statistics recently published, that State in the Union which has the best right to call itself the richest is California.

Because it is richest per capita. It is stated that a greater economic equality exists in San Francisco and in the State of California than elsewhere in the nation. This is in part due to an intensive campaign in savings on the part of the California banks.

California today, according to these statistics, though only eighth in population among the States in the Union, is fifth in her bank resources.

The press reports from which these facts are taken give the aggregate bank resources of California to be the colossal sum of $2,500,000,000 gold.

It goes on to say that in banking power per capita, in bank deposits per capita and in the size of her per capita deposit California stands in the first rank of all States.

This means that the people of California are not only the richest in the world, but that wealth is more evenly distributed among them than anywhere else on earth, every sixth man owning his own automobile.

The important question to be asked here is: Why is California so prosperous and why have her people so conserved their wealth in such large amounts for reinvestment and reproduction?

The answer is: Savings bank.

If You Worry, Read This.
Useful Hints For Dark Days

Worry never brought any good to anybody. Still, you say, "I don't worry because I want to; it is because I can't help it;" or "I have so much to worry about."

We all have our troubles, and worry, of course, makes matters worse. The patient generally recognises this fact without being influenced in any way by it.

The doctor who could meet this nervous condition and cure it would be the most popular man alive. He cannot do it, however, because the form of nervous exhaustion known as neurasthenia of which worry is a characteristic symptom, must be cured to a large extent by the patient.

But as the nerves depend upon the blood for nourishment, it naturally follows that by reinvigorating the blood the patient is tackling the actual root of the trouble. And that is why Dr. Williams' pink pills have proved so successful in cases of neurasthenia and nervous debility, for they supply the pure rich blood necessary to feed the nerves.

You should send today for the book, "The Nerves and Their Need," and read the chapter on neurasthenia. Many people have written, "This describes my case exactly; I am trying the treatment and being benefitted." A copy will be sent free if you write to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

You can begin to get well now, for Dr. Williams' pink pills are to be obtained of most dealers; or direct from above address, $1.50 per bottle, $8 six bottles, post free.

Germany's National Anthem

There is, potentially, a curious significance in the choice of a national anthem by the German Reich. Hitherto the empire has had three. The oldest was "Heil dir im Siegerkranz!" with words written by a Danish pastor for the English air "God Save the King!" and adopted as the national anthem of Prussia about 1790. The second was "Deutschland ueber Alles," written by Fallersleben after the 1848 revolution, and the third, Carl Wilhelm's "Wacht am Rhein," written in 1854, but little known until the war of 1870, when it was adopted as the national war song.

Now, the second of these has been designated by the Berlin government as the one official national anthem. The first had to be abandoned because there was no longer a king to whom to cry "Heil! Koenig, dir!" Besides, after going wild over their "Hymn of Hate" for England, Germans could not endure to sing an English air. The third was also obviously out of date, since the Rhine was no longer purely German—for all that, though, it never was! But the undoing of the land grab of 1870-71 caused the rallying song of that grab to be thrown into the discard.

There remained, then, "Deutschland ueber Alles," which was accordingly adopted. This choice, we are told, has caused to the Junkers and Hohenzollern restorationists profound disgust, because it not only fails to glorify king or emperor, but also quite neglects to speak of arms or military deeds. It is purely pacifist from start to finish. In fact, its author is said to have fallen into official disfavor and to have lost place and pension for neglecting in it to beat the big drum of imperialism and militarism.

The real significance of it will appear when the true interpretation of the first line of it is determined. The Junkers, to save what they can, are insisting that "Germany over all" means that Germany is to be politically and militaristically exalted over all the world and is to rule all other nations—the Hohenzollern idea. The Social Democrats, on the contrary, maintain that it means merely that Germans are to cherish their own Fatherland above all other lands—an entirely praiseworthy sentiment.

The Psychology And Reasonableness Of Patriotism

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS
Eminent Astronomer and Authority on Subjects of Scientific Interest.

It is three years since sitting under the fragrant pines, spruces and hemlocks on the bluffy shore of Lake Champlain, at Cliff Haven. I looked across, as I have again been looking just before this writing, at the dark line of Cumberland Head and the nearer trees of Crab Island, together with the blue waters between them, where one of our most glorious naval victories was gained in our second war with Great Britain. Historically, this is one of the most important sites in America. Psychologically it is one of the most inspiring to patriotic feeling.

There appears to be at the present time a strong and insidious effort to obscure and misrepresent the facts and the underlying motives and principles of our early struggles with England; an effort which every true American should resist. It is with indignation that I have recently read in publications professing to be American, half-concealed sneers at the men whose sacrifices and sufferings were the price paid for the independence of our country. I should like to take the writers of those unpatriotic utterances to the bluff here where the English cannon balls struck the land during the desperate fight of our ships to defend the American republic against the invasion of a monarchical foe; and there make them listen to the resplendent story of the battle of Plattsburg Bay.

There is a class of writers of so-called American history who, not content with belittling, and even ignoring, our decisive naval victories in the war of 1812, deliberately seek to undermine the whole cause for which America fought during that war, in the course of which the British forces, with no excuse of military necessity, burned the capital of the struggling young republic at Washington. It is a lamentably mistaken notion that patriotic sentiment is suitable only to the "vulgar," and that it shows scholarly magnanimity to disparage the actions and motives of one's own country.

When any country outgrows interest in, and veneration for, the spots where the blood of its sons has been shed for its defense, it is on the downward course. Disruption, political and social chaos, or absorption into the domain of a conqueror, are the adverse destinies that await it close by. There is no better preventive to the decay of patriotism than that which every successful nation has practised, viz. the erection of monuments, a tall white shaft, on its historic sites. One of these monuments, a tall white shaft, on Crab Island, gleams across the water like a finger of history, while I write. It shows where fighters who died for their country when it was in its childhood lie under the trees, within sound of the waters they won on.

From end to end Lake Champlain is dotted with historic sites and memories. Ticonderoga is among them, a name as resounding as its immortal story. The line of Champlain was a highway for armies and fleets during both the Revolution and the War of 1812. Through the broad valley Burgoyne proudly led the British army to overwhelming defeat at Saratoga, during the birth-struggle of our country.

Somehow when one considers these events on the spots where they occurred, one's contempt is increased toward the pusillanimous little historians who would surrender the country's birthright for a mess of foreign flattery, and for the deceitful repute of pretentious "magnanimity." Such things indicate not greatness and breadth, but littleness and narrowness of soul.

I am particularly concerned because some leading men in American science are found among those who more or less strongly support the effort to hush up the voice of patriotism. They ought to know that science herself is nationally and racially diverse, and that it is far better for her cause that she should be so. Science is planet-wide in the same way in which mankind is planet-wide, and the reactions of the different nations upon one another give life and progress to history so the reactions of racial mental types are advantageous to the advance of science as a whole.

I am not in favor of one great university for the whole earth, nor of one language for all people, nor of one viewpoint of science for every race and type of mankind. That is not saying that essential truth is divisible, but only that human knowledge at best can only be fragmentary and imperfect, and it is better to approach the citadel of truth from several sides than from one alone. So, likewise, it is better that there should be several, even many, nations, each proud of its own ideals and achievements, than one sole levelling empire.

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.
Don't Poison Baby.
FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have paregoric or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and a few drops too many will produce the sleep from which there is no waking. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labeling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without you or your physician knowing of what it is composed. Castoria does not contain narcotics.
The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria
Physicians Recommend Castoria.
"I have frequently prescribed Castoria for common ailments of children with good results." W. A. CRANDALL, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.
"I find your Castoria is very beneficial in the treatment of children's ailments." F. DAVIS, M. D., Chicago, Ill.
"As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine and, aside from my own family experience, I have, in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home." WM. J. McCRANN, M. D., Omaha, Neb.
"I object to what are called patent medicines, where the maker alone knows what stuff is put in them, but I know the formula of your Castoria and advise its use in proper cases. I judge it to be a very useful, as well as harmless family medicine." N. B. SIZER, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Hankow To Have Thrift Campaign

(Independent News Service)

Hankow, Sept. 23.—A Thrift Week has been arranged for the week September 25-29 under the auspices of the Industrial Department of the Wuhan Y.M.C.A. The Thrift Week program includes much the same arrangements, such as lectures and demonstrations, as those Thrift camapaigns in America which have already become an annual affair with almost every educational, commercial, civic, and Christian organisation co-operating.

Subjects for lectures include the following topics: Money and Its Function, Safety in Savings, Thrift and Character, Why, How, When, Where to Save, and Personal and National Thrift. The lectures will be conducted in the Boone University Library, Wuchang Y.M.C.A., St. Michael's Church, Chung Hua University, Hankow Y.M.C.A., Industrial Y M.C.A. at Chiaokow, and several churches in Wuchang and Hankow.

Mr. Charles C. Shedd, Industrial Secretary of the Wuhan Y.M.C.A., who has had much experience in work of this kind both in France and China, is now in charge of the program and arrangements. He is very enthusiastic about the campaign as he has the backing of an advisory committee of prominent Chinese in industrial and commercial circles.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

September 27, 1922

Spot and forward bar silver were each unchanged in London yesterday.

The New York price declined to 69⅜ cents and the London-New York cross rate to 441¼.

The only changes in our official quotations here today were a drop in the Gold Dollar rate to 75¼ and in the Franc rate to 985.

Our market was again quiet and steady throughout the day.

Sterling was a shade steadier, and Gold Dollars were done at about the same rates as yesterday.

There were sellers of Sterling throughout the morning at 3-5 11-16 September-October delivery and 3-5⅝ for forward with buyers about 1-16d. higher.

There was slightly more demand for Gold Dollars than yesterday, sellers offering 76⅝ September-October delivery and 76¾ for forward, with buyers ⅛ point above these rates.

There were sellers of Yen at 62⅝ November-December delivery and buyers at 62⅛.

There was a good demand for Francs today, banks quoting to buy T. T. at 1010 and bills at 1035.

Sterling bills were done at 3-6½ and Gold Dollar bills at 78¼.

India bought silver again in London yesterday and the market closed steady.

The New York market is dull with nothing doing.

German Soldiers' Mutiny Shortlived

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, Sept. 26.—News has just leaked out of a mutiny of a portion of the Reichswehr garrison at the East Prussian fortress of Loetzen on September 10.

A third of the garrison marched to the barracks and demanded shorter hours, the dismissal of non-commissioned officers and payment of overdue bonuses.

The ringleaders were disarmed and arrested.

The incident is ascribed to the activity of Bolsheviks who have been busily engaged among the Reichswehr since the death of Dr. von Rathenau.
